BMCC unveils new website

PENDLETON, Ore. –Blue Mountain Community College's (BMCC) online presence has a fresh new look. BMCC unveiled a new website just in time for the start of the fall term. The same URL, www.bluecc.edu, is used for the new site.

The website, developed by Vision Internet – a California company that specializes in government websites – has a drastically different look than the old one. Drop-down menus allow for users to easily find what they're looking for, and a news block at the bottom of the page calls out important information for students and community members alike. Those interested in applying to BMCC can do so easily from the home page.

"This new site is much more modern, easy to navigate, and allows us to push more information out to our students, staff and community," said BMCC President Cam Preus.

Maintenance of the new website will take work, so BMCC has hired a new webmaster in David Buntman. Besides managing the website, Buntman will also manage BMCC's administrative software system from a user perspective.

In addition to the new website, BMCC has also launched a mobile app, available for free download on both Apple and Android devices. The app features videos and photos, as well as a full course catalogue.
