Meeting!

Include in your flyer when your meeting is, who is invited to attend and address your audience. Who would be interested? Tailor your flyer to your audience.

This could be advertising a meeting or just for general information. Use the tear offs as contacts that they can take with them. Include a good phone number and email of someone who can respond within one day so that individuals will stay interested.

Include pictures of events or symbols that will attract your audience, for example if you are a computer programming club you would include pictures like the ones pictured on the left. A literary club would include popular novels or other insignia.

Avoid paragraphs and block text.
